A Note from the Editor:

I am very excited to present the 2010-2011 edition of the Allelu! I hope you enjoy the memories it contains and the photographic treasures it holds. I want to say "thank you" to my hard-working yearbook staff as well as to all the contributing photographers who let us use their photos. Without all of you, this book would not be what it is.

Theme

This edition of the Allelu depicts bridges on and around Trinity's campus as its main design theme. We wanted to explore the architecture of our beautiful neighborhood and campus that many times goes unnoticed.

Take a look at some of the activities that happened this year at Trinity...

Move-In Day

The first day on campus is always hectic. Hundreds of students flood in from all directions with little to no idea of where to go or what to do. That's where Trinity's move-in team comes in. The group clad in green met students at their cars with shopping carts, ready to get students settled in with arm loads of clothes, food, and furniture.

"I thought it was awesome that the crew helped carry a lot of the stuff in. It made the process really smooth and less stressful."

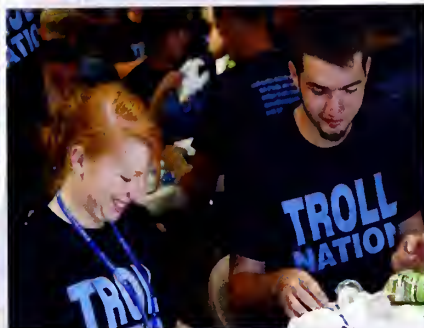

- Tyler DeKoekkoek

The year started off with a bang as hundreds of freshmen filed in to the annual service project. After spending time in lectures and orientation classes, students were able to take a break from the classroom and work together wrapping beanie babies for children who wouldn't ordinarily receive Christmas presents. Nearly 10,000 bears were wrapped in a mere 3 hours. In the meantime, students were able to form friendships and make memories while sharing the love of God through acts of service.

"Art is the desire of a man to express himself, to record the reactions of his personality to the world he lives in."

-Amy Lowell

Art Raid was a chance for students to enjoy a night of craft-making, karaoke, and fellowship with friends, all while contributing to a good cause. Students came to purchase jewelry, make hemp items, print T-shirts, eat, and listen to songs sung by some of Trinity's finest.

Hearts, crosses, Bible verses, and trolls; that's what lined the sidewalks of Trinity after the campus-wide event "Chalk It" this past Fall. Several students were able to put their creative juices to work, writing and doodling for free T-shirts on behalf of the school.

Chalk It

Students turn the sidewalks into canvases.

The musical revue was an opportunity for students to showcase their talents while presenting pieces from popular musicals throughout the 20th and 21st centuries. When asked to give their thoughts/favorite memories of the show, performers said...

"I really enjoyed getting to know the rest of the cast and being a part of a one-of-a-kind production."

-Brooke Wigboldy

To celebrate the fellowship of both alumni and current students (and to demonstrate the vast array of athletic ability possessed by Trolls school-wide) Trinity hosted an exhilarating 5K race through the local Palos Heights neighborhood. The race, dubbed "Troll Trot" appropriately, was open to all students, faculty, and alumni, and many came out for the event. It began in the Bootsma Bookstore Cafe, looped around the surrounding residential areas, and ended back on campus. Racers ran, walked, jogged, skipped, and frolicked through the race, and good times were had by all participants.

Another Fall activity included the annual Trinity student pumpkin carving contest hosted by Student Activities.

Several pumpkin masterpieces were submitted, and the competition was fierce.

In the end, the winners were Dynamic Duo Caleb Mulder and Bethany Verhage, with their DaVinci-like willow tree pumpkin.

Trollstock

Lights.....camera.....action! Trollstock this year was a smashing success; incorporating many diverse singing, dancing, rapping, and instrument-playing acts into a talent show unlike any other. The auditorium was filled to the brim with the musically advanced, as well as those who were just looking for a great night of entertainment. Trollstock proved to satisfy both crowds, and was a remarkable display of the many talents possessed by students at Trinity.

Movie Night

On a cold winter's night over Interim, students got together to watch the classic Christmas story, "The Grinch" together in the auditorium. There were free snacks and good spirits as the familiar cartoon brought together Grinch-lovers everywhere. Unfortunately, the movie stopped working midway through, but the event was a great way to bring students away from their dorms in the dead of winter.

Minute to Win It

Taken from the popular TV show, Trinity's version of "Minute to Win It" blended household items with competitive challenges. Contestants had one minute to complete miscellaneous tasks, and provided much entertainment for members of an audience on the edge of their seats.

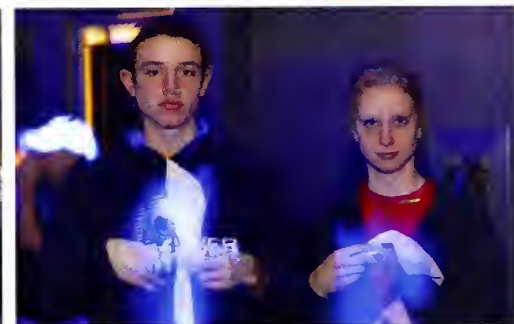

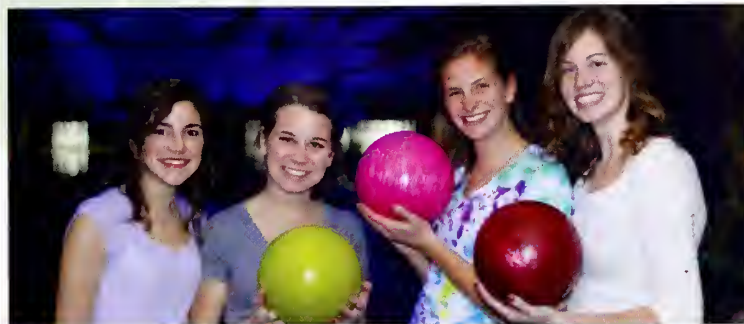

Parade of Lights

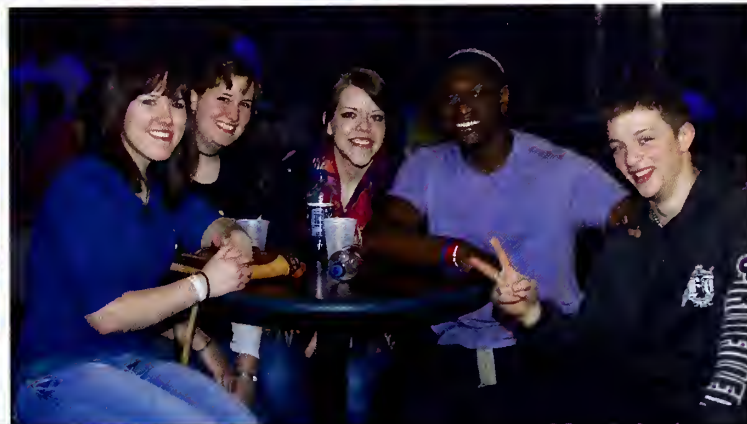

Taking advantage of a unique opportunity, Trinity students were able to attend Downtown Chicago's "Parade of Lights" in anticipation of the Holiday season. The city was absolutely beautiful, and the food and fellowship helped make the experience very memorable to those who attended.

Midnight Bowling

What's better than a night of free bowling with friends? Not much! This year, Student Activities gave students the opportunity to do just that!

Snowpocalypse

On February 2, 2011, the skies opened up. Nicknamed the "Snowcalypse," the resulting snowstorm was enough to close Trinity's campus that evening and the following day. It was a winter miracle.

Trollway to Love

Just in time for Valentine's Day, the sponsors of West Hall put on a mock version of "The Newly-Wed Game," renamed "Trollway to Love." What ensued was a fun night of gags, grins, and giggles enjoyed by all.

Southies Tavern

From music performances to improv skits to root beer floats, Southies Tavern was an amusing way to learn about the dangers of drinking without self-control.

Watoto Children's Choir

On March 1st, a choir of Ugandan children stopped by Trinity on a tour of the US to share their talents with us. They gave powerful testimonies of abandonment and desolation, as each child had been orphaned by AIDS. Yet their message was of hope, and they sang and danced with thanksgiving for God's great love and faithfulness.

Truly all who came to watch these beautiful children were inspired by their stories and their display of genuine gratitude toward God's goodness. Through their singing, dancing, and story telling, each child was a living sample of hope.

Students skate, dance, chat, and pose in their eccentric apparel.

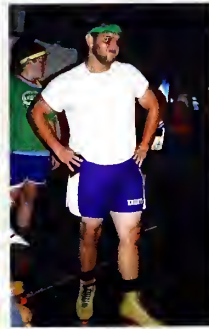

Clad in tights, headbands, and obnoxiously loud prints, Trinity students took the roller rink by storm during an 80's themed Trollerskating party last Fall. Classic tunes pulsed from speakers as Trolls showed off their skills (or lack there of) on the dance floor/rink, and as most events with tube socks and colored mascara go, this one was an absolute hoot.

S.A Election Dinner

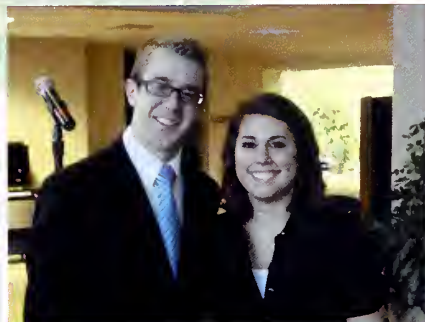

To celebrate the results of the Student Association Election, a "patriotic banquet" was held in the cafeteria. Balloons and colored streamers hung from the ceiling, students got into their most patriotic ensembles, and the Association held a series of games and contests for the evening. Caleb Copeland won the award for the most red-white-and-blue-clad student, while Sam Stahl took home a prize for winning the balloon-popping competition. The dinner was delicious, the competition was entertaining, and all who came enjoyed the evening.

Are You Smarter Than an Undergrad was an event that put the brains of students and faculty to the test. While providing the audience with lots of laughs, both teams showed an impressive amount of knowledge and wit, making the night fun for everyone involved.

The Celebration of Asia was an event put on to give students a better understanding and appreciation for Asian culture. All who participated were able to enjoy an oriental meal followed by performances by Trinity students to shed light on Asian traditions. The evening recognized the advances made by Eastern countries and helped break down common stereotypes given to Asians around the world.

Hoops Happening

If you think it's rough out there in the court, you should try being in the cafeteria on the day of Hoops Happening. With huge prizes on the line, the competition was fierce, and only the toughest of athletes could rise to the top.

Top: Josh Smithe holds only one of several prizes of the night.

Amazing Race

Right: Several students sport their team colors.

Girls may look nice, but they play fierce! This was especially the case at Trinity Christian College last Fall, where women of all classes met on the field for an intense game of PowderPuff that left the school merely wishing it had a football team.

This year marked the second annual reproduction of the vocal POP's Concert put on by members of Trinity's concert choir and honor's ensemble. Both choirs performed songs previously rehearsed, while solos and small ensembles put together creations of their own. The songs were more modern pieces, selected from current radio hits and various musicals, and each performance was unique. The concert showed off the musicality of all who performed, and was a great night of fun and entertainment.

Spring Formal

This year on April 1st, Student Activities hosted the annual Spring Formal open to all students of Trinity. Hundreds came out for the evening of dinner, desserts, and dancing with friends, all dressed to the nines. Formal brought back sweet 'n sour memories of high school proms, and helped create new memories for all participants. The night was a blast, and many returned to campus wishing for round two.

Opus was a day solely committed to demonstrating the accomplishments of students in the classroom. The day was full of academic presentations, concerts, awards, and a parade to boot. Regular afternoon classes were cancelled for the day, and students enjoyed an afternoon of fellowship and appreciation for education here at Trinity Christian College.

Love Palos

Every year, Trinity participates in the event "Love Palos," in which students volunteer for various service projects all around the city. The morning is spent in service, followed by an afternoon on campus for the Spring Carnival. This year there were games, inflatables, treats, and other events held out in the warm sunshine. It was a great day of fun and fellowship.

Commencement

May 2011

Commencement welcomed families of 185 traditional graduates to campus on Saturday, May 14, 2011. The speaker for the traditional ceremony was Dr. Calvin Seerveld, one of the original faculty members of Trinity Christian College. Processing this year were Trinity's first faculty and students from the College's first class from 1961. Congrats all!

Campus Clubs

-Betsy Holman

Academic Initiative

"Never think of yourself as an all-knowing, perfected master; you must continue to train daily with your friends and students and progress together in the Art of Peace."

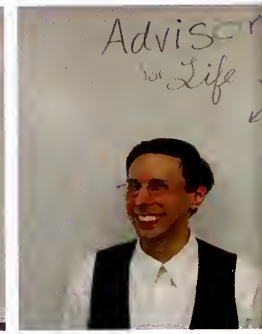

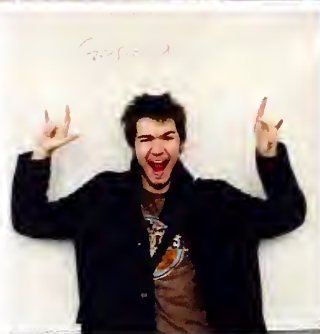

- Morihei Ueshiba

History Club

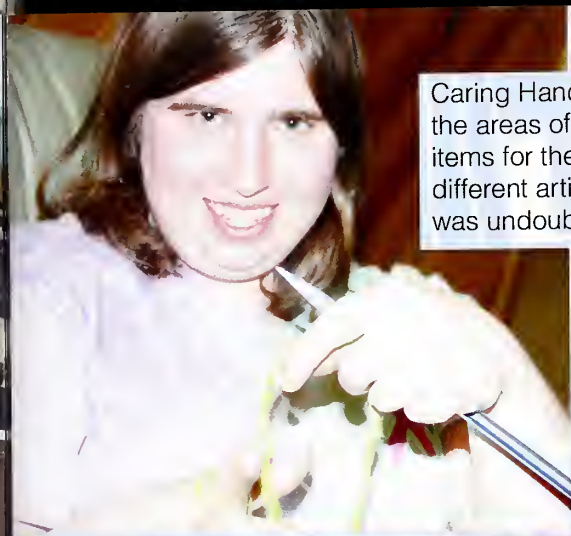

The History Club is a committee that meets to discuss their favorite subject, as well as plan campus-wide events to make history appreciated by all students. Such events include the Masquerade Ball and the Renaissance Faire.

Caring Hands was a service project where students gifted in the areas of knitting and crocheting came together to make items for the homeless in Chicago. They made several different articles of clothing and accessories, and their work was undoubtedly appreciated by all who received it.

Caring Hands

"When I was there, it was enjoyable, and I learned a new skill I enjoy that de-stresses me."

-Holly Gaenzle

Broken Bread Meal

This organization focused mainly on supporting people of different nationalities affected by disease, famine, and poverty. Acting on Aids hosted activities that raised funds and awareness of these global issues, including the Broken Bread Meal and 30 Hour Famine, which raised money to provide mosquito nets for those in Africa affected by malaria.

"One of my favorite aspects of working with the club AOA has been to gain a better understanding and more knowledge about what is taking place in Africa as well as other countries. Becoming involved in events such as the 30 Hour Famine really allows me to get a grasp of what children in poverty-stricken areas have to experience on a daily basis."

Outcry was a student-led worship service held every Thursday night throughout the school year. The event gave students a chance to take a break from studying, paper-writing, and the other stresses of college life to focus on worshipping the Almighty Creator and thanking Him for daily blessings. Outcry was very spiritually renewing, and offered rest and fellowship for students on the home stretch of a busy school week.

The skillfull comedians that made up the 2010-11 TrinPov team were truly a delight to watch. They performed at school functions, meals, and other events to add laughter to Trinity's campus. From their wacky games to creative sketches, these talented actors helped make the stresses of school seem a little less daunting.

The Social Justice Chapter was a "club centered around raising awareness and encouraging our community to acting out rightly toward our Lord's beautiful world."

Allelu Staff

Executive Staff

The yearbook staff worked hard this year to put together a publication that would display memories enjoyed over the 2010-2011 academic school year. Pulling late nights, long hours, and drinking plenty of caffeine, the group was able to make Allelu possible for those to look back on their college years in the future.

For some, Spring Break is a time of rest, relaxation, and a week spent out in the sun. For the service team in Biloxi, Mississippi, at least one of the three was true. The team went south for a week, doing projects on homes and yard work by day and sleeping in a local church by night. The group became very close over the week, and even got a chance to visit the beach on the trip. Though it was no ordinary vacation, members of the team had a lot of fun, and would go back again if offered the opportunity.

Choir

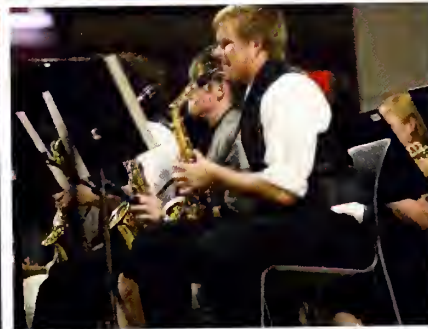

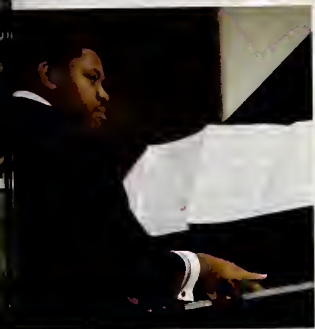

The Concert Choir/Honors Ensemble have always had a reputation for excellent vocal music. But this year both groups were able to showcase their talents to audiences nation-wide. The year began with a fall concert on campus, and proceeded with a Christmas production, an interim to MS, CO, and IA, a Lerner and Lowe medley, a Grandparents' Day matinee, a POPS concert, a Spring production, and several church services.

This year's band truly encompassed the idea of making a joyful noise before the Lord. From woodwinds, to brass, to rhythmic percussion, the sounds from all instruments blended together to create some beautiful pieces. The band was composed of students with all different majors and members extracurricular activities. Despite the busy schedules shared by all, the musicians were able to come together and put on many impressive performances.

It's a pretty unique experience to be able to travel overseas and witness the culture of a different country. This year, an interim trip was offered to the tropical rainforest of Costa Rica. A handful of students seized the opportunity to be blessed by the trip, and had many adventures on the experience, including white-water rafting, hiking, zip-lining, and getting to know exotic animals at face value.

Another service team from Trinity was given the opportunity to serve in Georgia at Koinonia Farms. The students did home maintenance and landscaping jobs, and worked with farm animals as well. Upon their return, they even presented their experiences at chapel for other students to hear.

Learn to Play Play to Learn

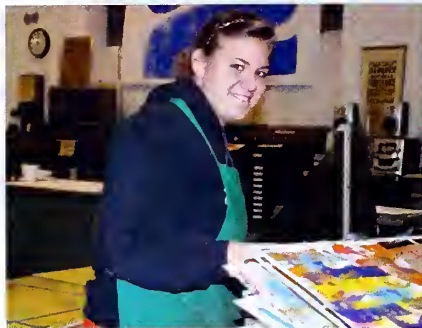

Another chance to serve was provided to students during interim through the "Learn to Play, Play to Learn" experience. Those who participated worked with special needs children through games and activities. As evident from the smiles, it can be assumed that those who served displayed the love of God to children who would often be looked down upon in society. Special friendships were formed through this interim that will be cherished through out the years to come.

Matthew 19:14 Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."

Students from the Hamilton Wood Type Interim were able to explore their more creative sides. They traveled to Wisconsin to the Hamilton Wood Type Museum and learned the history of typography through hands-on experience with wood blocks from the late 1800's. It was a unique opportunity enjoyed by all who were able to take part in the event.

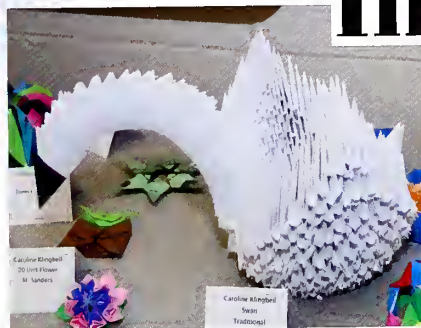

Hamilton Wood Type Interim

The Origami Interim transformed general student knowledge about the oriental art of paper folding. Not only did students create the stereotypical paper animals, but they also folded boxes, three dimensional shapes, clothes, characters, and life-size creations. By the end of the two week period, the class had a vast collection of paper concoctions in all sorts of shapes and colors that represented all of their hard work and creativity.

The Peru Interim was yet another chance for Trinity students to become involved in service projects across the world. After taking a few brief lectures on Peruvian culture and customs, the team headed to Huaycan, Peru, to share the love of Christ with children from a local orphanage. Students were able to love on the kids, share Bible stories with them, lead crafts, games, and other activities, and leave them gifts before heading back to the States. The trip was very eye-opening to those who served, and the memories created during the trip will last a life time.

Athletics

The best moments from Trinity's interscholastic men's and women's sports teams.

Some schools have fabulous pep bands, elaborate tailgating parties, and week-long rallies in support of their teams, but none can compare with the congregation of student fans at Trinity's sporting events: Troll Nation. Clad in T-shirts of black, members of Troll Nation make up one of the most unique fan-bases in the history of NAIA sports. With cheers such as

"Where do we live?
Under the bridge!" and the harmonious melodious of "Tro-olls, Tro-olls, Tro-olls" floating around the gym, it's easy to see why Trinity teams do so well.

Men's Soccer

The JV Trolls ended their season with a 3-3-2 record. They won one of two games at home, and beat both Robert Morris University and Trinity International with a 2-1 victory. They had a great season together.

Photos by Lisa Roller

The 2010 soccer season was fairly successful for the Trolls, who came off the season with an 8-10 (5-5 conference) record. They pulled out some exciting games, such as the overtime 3-2 win at Huntington University on the road, and a shut-out at Cardinal Stritch University. The Trolls ended up winning three games at home and five away, ending their season at the conference quarterfinals against Judson University.

The Varsity Lady Trolls had an incredibly successful season, finishing their 2010 year with an 18-4-2 record (7-1-2 conference) and an appearance in Kissimmee, FL for the Christian National Tournament, where they finished 3rd in the nation. During the season, the team began with a six game winning streak, followed by several close games (going overtime in three). The Trolls played extremely well, and beat some very good arch-rival teams.

The JV Lady Trolls also dominated their way through the 2010 soccer season. Not only did the team end with an impressive 9-1-1 record, they also woke up at the crack of dawn every day for eight weeks to practice. The team had a five game winning streak at the beginning of the season, followed by a four game streak near the end. The girls embodied the terms "hard work" and "dedication" all season long.

This year's volleyball season was without a doubt one of the most successful seasons in Trinity's history. The team went 31-10 (10-1 in conference) in their regular season, and ended the year with a NAIA appearance and a big finale in Kissimmee, FL for the NCCAA National Finals. Coach Bill Schepel was named CCAC Coach of the Year. In all the lady Trolls simply enjoyed a season of playing their favorite sport with 15 of their closest friends.

This season was a rebuilding season for the Lady Trolls. With a new coach on board and only two seniors, the women faced a lot of adversity. That being said, the players worked very hard, had some great moments in the season, and grabbed a few wins at home. Their final record was 6-25 (2-10 conference).

Some say you have to use your five best players, but I found out you win with the five that fit together best as a team." - Red Auerbach

The Mens Basketball team caught fire toward the end of the season, and used their success to propel them into the NCCAA National Tournament in Indianapolis, IN. With a four-month season, the Trolls had a lot of success. They ended things with a 20-17 record (11-3 conference). They won 12 games at home and several more on the road, posting some impressive stats.

From Middleville, MI to Naperville, FL, the track team left their mark all over the country. Both men and women were very competitive.

The ladies had a 5th place, two 3rd places, and a 1st place finish in various meets by the end of April, and the men added 7th, 5th, and 3rd place finals to the season. All athletes had great moments, and represented a fairly new track program very well.

"Maybe people wonder why we run track and think that we are crazy for running every day. However, after competing in track and field for over 9 years I run because it is refreshing, rewarding, challenging, and competitive. There is no other sport where a 0.01 of a second or 0.01 of a cm can be the difference between first and second place."

-Melissa Voss

Woman's Soft Ball

The Lady Trolls Softball team enjoyed a season of many fresh, new faces. With seven freshman-status players and only three seniors, it would be easy for a team to collapse on itself before the pressures of tournament time. This was not the case for the team, who stuck out a record of 11-24 (6-12 conference). The Trolls had yet to begin tournament play at the beginning of May, but ended the season on two shut-out victories against Cardinal Stritch University. Nine of their wins were on the road, an impressive stat for so many of their games being double headers. With the rain ever-looming above, many games were postponed and cancelled. But the games that were played were played well, and the Trolls had a lot to be proud of walking into the final stretch of the season.

Baseball

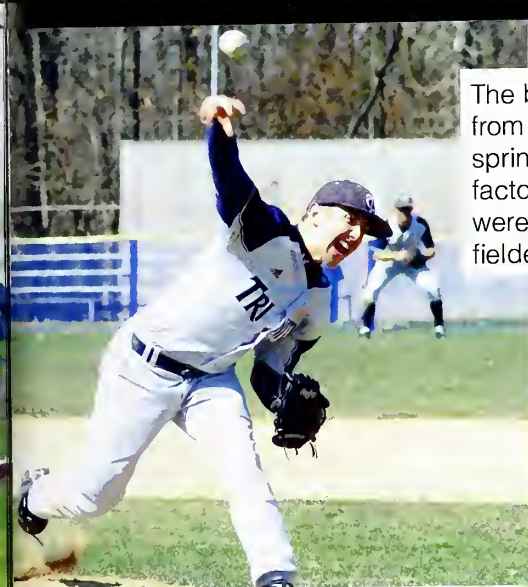

Asked his favorite part of the season, Rick Tilquist replied, "on April 23rd, I threw a shut-out game against Olivet Nazarene, only gave up four hits in the seven innings, and struck out six batters. We won that game 3-0."

Their record as of early May was 17-25 (11-15 in Conference) with several games to go.

The baseball team faced much opposition this year, both from other teams in the conference and from an overly rainy spring. However, the team was able to overcome those factors and pull together some great, exciting games. There were some real athletes on the team, from pitchers to infielders to outfielders, and the games were fun to watch.
